

LA GRIPE IN NEW YORK

The Ravages of the Disease on the Increase.

FOUR DEATHS RECORDED IN A DAY

Men Attack in Greater Numbers and with More Serious Results Than Women—Three Hundred and Fifty-seven Patients Down with the Disease—An Unprecedented Mortality from Pneumonia Recorded Recently—List of Cases of La Grippe

New York, Jan 4.—The ravages of the "grippe" continue and find a few physicians have arrived at the conclusion that in its serious manifestations it is to be regarded as a symptom of pneumonia. There seems to be good ground for this view in the unprecedented mortality recorded recently from pneumonia. During the twenty-four hours ending at noon Friday 221 deaths from all causes were reported to the health board. Of this number 117 were from pneumonia, 17 from consumption, 15 from influenza, 11 from the cause stated by the physicians, 10 from other causes, but coming to the same end, and 10 from other causes, but coming to the same end.

Men Have the Worst of It
Such a number of deaths as this would be the time of the year, but the statistics of this epidemic are so startling that it is a record. It is a record that it was the worst part of the epidemic. In the number of deaths it is a record. In the number of deaths it is a record. In the number of deaths it is a record.

Some interesting phenomena of the epidemic is the fact that it is a record. In the number of deaths it is a record. In the number of deaths it is a record. In the number of deaths it is a record.

Comment on Capt. Schenck's Book
LONDON, Jan 4.—The Times in its review of Capt. Schenck's book on the Chicago anarchists and their doings and history, says that the book must be read with intense interest, not merely in Chicago and the United States, but wherever the name of the city is mentioned.

On New Year's Day he was seized with a chill, and has been confined to his bed ever since. There are three female servants connected with the household, and all are suffering from the "grippe." The other two have managed to drag themselves around, as the master expressed it, but were of no use to themselves or anybody else.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE, with its varied and excellent contents, is a library in itself.

It was indeed a happy thought to print an entire novel in each number.

Not a short novelette, but a long story such as you are used to get in book form and pay from one dollar to one dollar and a half a year.

Not only that, but with each number you get an abundance of other contributions which gives you a good magazine besides the novel.
The rising stars which have been struck on the lucky wheel of fame have resounded throughout the entire land, and so the stars of Lippincott's Magazine stand in the front rank of monthly publications, and is the most widely read and valued of publication of its kind in the world. For further facts, send for a copy of

THE WOOL MEN.
 The men who are in the republican party fight what there is to be picked up have begun to fight with each other. There is an old story to the effect that rogues are bound to fall out some time, upon which occasions democrats get their due. The political plunderers have gone on to Washington, and it takes an extra police force to keep them from fighting tight now. As usual, the politician is where he can do the least good. But the gang is in Washington and the members can't agree about the division of the spoils. Some of the members think that the entire booty should be turned over to them. The ones who are in the ring at present are the wool men. We are so fortunate to have in our country men who grow wool and men who manufacture it. These fellows ought to get along in peace, but they won't. Both factions are willing to be rewarded for having engaged in a patriotic industry. The great trouble between them is that each faction insists upon the first prize or nothing.

The woolen manufacturers began to feel a troublesome pressure some time ago. They had an ad valorem protection of about 67 per cent, but the patriots who grow wool came along and took part of it. Then the manufacturing infants began to howl for the whole cake. They held a lot of meetings some months ago in which they insisted that it was necessary to take the duty off new wool. The ranchmen retaliated by suggesting that it would be a great stroke of honesty to take the duty off manufactured wool. They were both right, but it was a new experience, and they didn't like it.

Now the wool growers have gone to Washington to ask for heavier protection on their branch of the business. It is the fashion nowadays to ask for more protection. These protected industries are like an old toper who has become physically wrecked by the use of whisky. As their condition grows more deplorable they ask for larger quantities of the article that has ruined them. The trembling toper calls for more whisky, the distressed century infant cries for more protection. And when there is not enough to go around there is great trouble in the nursery.

But the manufacturers throughout New England have said that the duty must be taken off wool. The very wise ways and means committee concludes to ask the wool growers what they think about it. There come in from Ohio, Texas and Montana and argue that they should have a lighter duty. Now imagine a man from Texas pretending that he can't raise wool as cheaply as anybody in the world. He pays some cowboy shepherd about $200 a year to look after 10,000 sheep. His pasture land is about as cheap as air. It doesn't require a very high degree of skilled labor to shear a sheep. The apprentice who waits for victims in a barber shop, and who gets a dollar a week, would consider his art prostituted were he put to shearing sheep. He would throw up his job and go back to shingling shoes. Now why the Texas ranchman, with his free pasture land and unapprenticed sheep shearer and gentle cowboy, can't grow wool in competition with the world, is very hard to say. The republican party pretends to know why, but it won't tell. And the Montana gentleman will please rise and explain his difficulties. We don't care to hear from the Ohio man; he hasn't got sense enough to move.

Now the manufacturers say that there is too much duty on wool at present. When these men come before the committee with their little story of hardship, the fellows from Texas and Montana will be thrown in to that mental condition which means fight. And then all hands may be prompted to tell the truth about each other. What a harvest this will be for good democrats.

MCGINTY.
 The Despatch is kind enough to suggest that the democrats run McGinty for president in 1892. Some people are of the opinion that this suggestion was intended to be humorous, but this can't be true, as the matter is too serious to be trifled with, yes, and serious with the men who swear by the sweet little thoughts that dwell over on South State street. Perhaps The Despatch intended to be funny, but its wit has excited a great many tears in republican quarters. Decatur republicans are a little bit touchy on the subject of McGinty. Throw the old dog at them in any shape and they retire with all the speed of wounded virtue. It must be that The Despatch folks haven't lived in this community very long.

or at least they have the record of their party's doings. Why the democrats can't run McGinty for president. He belongs to the other party. Why, Mr. Despatch, have the goodness to look up the record and become acquainted with your own past standard bearers. The political files of this county show that McGinty has before long made his appearance in politics. Some years ago he ran for assistant supervisor of Decatur township on the republican ticket. The ill luck with which his name has become proverbial hung around his neck at that time. He took an awful fall then, as he has done so many times since. The song does not repeat all of McGinty's misdeeds. It puts him at the bottom of the ladder, deep down in the coal hole, and leaves him very wet at the bottom of the sea. It makes no mention of the greater disaster that befell him when he trusted his fortunes to the republicans of Macon county. But we submit that this record shows that McGinty is not available material for the democratic party. The facts all tend to show that he belonged to the other fellow. As he is evidently a good-hearted fellow, we are sorry that this is true. Misfortune has followed his track so long that all the warblers in the land have learned to read it by note. But this misfortune began when he fell in with the republicans. He ought to come over to our party and avoid all his bad luck. See how those who should be his fast friends desert him. A standard-bearer a few short years ago, and now the official organ begs the other party to run him for president. It has actually forgotten his politics, forgotten that he once lent his name to the republican ticket in order that the old patriots might try their cunning hands at the last art of scratching. And though all this he never learned. He just kept on the old smile and that "best suit of clothes." And now we may take him and run him for president. You fellows are a set of ungrateful wretches.

They think a great deal more about the question of annexation in Canada than do we in the United States. It has become a party principle in that country. Sol White has just been elected mayor of Windsor on the issue of annexation. Windsor is just across from Detroit, and its people have a daily opportunity to see the beautiful workings of a custom house. They have grown tired of the artificial barrier, and would destroy it by annexation. Ernest Winham, who is the best posted Canadian authority, is of the opinion that the two countries can not come under the one government for a great many years, if ever. The present government at Washington is evidently of the same opinion, and it has been the policy of Mr. Blaine to ignore the existence of Canada.

So the people of Windsor had better consider well before they make any more proposals. Just now we are in a frame of mind to say "no." But the trade relations are what bother Canada. Now our Washington people pretend a desire to extend our trade with all American countries. Will Canada make a few overtures to try the sincerity of our secretary of state? He has been making a great noise in the hearing of South America. Pan-America, he claims as his own particular, bright idea. It would be well to see if Canada is included in this. But we should be careful not to arouse bright hopes in the breasts of Windsor's people. There is more than a suspicion among our people that Canada does not occupy a favorable place in Blaine's secret thought. Unfortunately for Canada, it can be reached without the aid of a subsidized line of steam ships.

The Herald objects to Senator Gorman, because, as it says, his methods are not straight. It thinks that he is a trifle more peculiar than the heathen Chinee. But why should The Herald object on such grounds? Is the North Main street concern looking for a monopoly of the shady business?

Nobody is moving a house along North Main street. That is a street car that you see.

An old baseball parlane, our duffer couldn't stop a balloon.

At any rate McGinty escaped the affidavit.
 Rudy and Blawie.
 The rains of the past few days are remarkable for more things than one. It was the heaviest rainfall which has ever occurred in this part of the country at this time of the year. The effects on vegetation are such as might be expected from an April shower. The blades show the green on their buds, and Japanese quinces are in bloom. The buds of all varieties of fruit trees are swelling, and should we now have only a moderate cold snap—down to zero, or even less—every bud would be killed. The horticultural interests of the country are in a very precarious condition. The only hope for a good fruit crop this year is that it will turn mildly cold and stay so for at least two months.
